Re: IDR Construction Development
Letter of Reference

In 2014, Red-D-Arc Limited ("RDA") hired IDR Construction Development ("IDR") to work on a multi-million dollar light industrial renovation and relocation initiative in British Columbia. IDR was responsible for planning, organizing and overseeing all aspects of the project.

RDA is pleased to write a letter of recommendation outlining some key points that all future clients / vendors should be made aware of when considering entering into a business relationship with IDR.

Overall Knowledge

IDR's expertise and customer service skills in this industry have proven to be exceptional. This was demonstrated through their ability to know exactly where to turn / who to ask / and how to complete the job properly and efficiently.

Management | Hands-On Approach

IDR did not let any area of the job become "not their problem". IDR went above and beyond RDA's expectations and managed the entire project as if it were their own (from the pre-construction zoning amendment application to the occupancy permit).

Staff

The Prime Contractor (Iain Barrie) and Support Staff (Barbara McNabb) have been a blessing to work with. All questions were handled quickly and efficiently. There has not been a moment where RDA did not feel like IDR's number one priority.

Conclusion

The project was completed on schedule and within budget. IDR was an absolute pleasure to work with and RDA would welcome any opportunity to work with them again!

Sincerely,
